It is always gratifying to see evidence of the spirit of [Junkyard Golf] manifesting itself on the edges of the Internet.

Here, from YouTube, The Best Homemade Mini Golf Course Ever

Note how the designer keeps to the "assemblage" spirit of Junkyard Golf - not really securing anything to anything or attaching anything - just putting things together.

Not also the devotion, dedication, degree to which this whole silly thing is taken seriously.

- Hole #1 - " up the hornby railway track , around the hotwheels bend & fired into the hole"
- Hole #2 - " up and around the three loops and then fired into the hole"
- Hole #3 - " up the hornby track down the videos and fired into the hole"
- Hole #4 - " along the piano, some how. oh yeah, then fired in..."
- Hole #5 - " up the hornby track and fired up the tube and into the hole"
- Hole #6 - " up and then down the hornby track, then fired into the tube and then in the hole"
- Hole #7 - " up the hornby track and fired off the sofa into the hole"
- Hole #8 - " up the tube and then fired back down the tube into then hole"
- Hole #9 - " up the hornby track then fired against the tube, the tube falls over and the ball rolls along the piano into the hole"
